Your Reserve Funds At Work

Now that you have seen the fabulous new look and feel of The Carlsbad Inn, many of you have asked, how do you undertake such a large task. My answer? With lots of help!

To create the initial concept for the upcoming projects, a team was assembled including representatives from the Grand Pacific Resort Management, Board members, Jim Watkins (the original resort developer and current hotel owner), and some of our local Carlsbad Inn Owners.

This team ranked the top five elements that bring our Guests to the resort:

1. The proximity to the Pacific Ocean.
2. The accessibility to the Village of Carlsbad.
3. The open spaces provided by our center courtyard.
4. The classic Tudor-style architecture.
5. The longevity of staff and the style of service that comes from familiarity. The sense that we are ALL family!

To establish the Owner involvement that all of us consider so essential, a group of approximately 20 Owner volunteers met with Jim Watkins at Villa L'Auberge where he led us all in a walk-through tour which inspired us with the possibilities we could accomplish at our own resort. As a result, the prominent design themes which evolved were a French county style for the interiors, and a "view corridor concept" ensuring the visibility of Pacific Ocean from the moment we walk through the front door!

Our management team worked with the interior designers and landscape architects to identify the visual barriers and find creative means to open up views. French doors and glass walls would produce unobstructed views and landscaping would intentionally have to be kept low to the ground to open up the sight lines.

To expand vital Owner involvement, color boards for the lobby, library, and hotel and condo unit interiors were presented with general concepts and themes, complete with finish colors, fabric samples and photos of potential furniture designs. General color choices for interior and exterior elements were chosen to reflect the colors of sunsets and ocean.

The color boards and landscape plans were kept on display for several months and input was gathered from Guests and Owners. With all input assessed, we pulled together a model hotel unit for all of our Guests and Owners to experience and provide additional feedback. With amendments to reflect the input received, the hotel renovations and our first condo model unit were underway.

During the annual meeting, over 200 Owners walked through the condo model which included an upgrade to the landscaping plan for the area just outside of the model unit patio. At that time, Owners filled out written surveys to help guide us to a better design. Over the next several weeks we continued the process and reviewed more Owners' written surveys.

It was decided that we had enough changes to warrant a second model unit. The second model unit was completed mid-July and submitted to one final and very critical walkthrough by management, the design team, and available Owners. Each element of change was reviewed, the plan finalized and we moved forward with excitement as orders were placed in anticipation of the Oak building renovation.

For those of you who haven't seen the terrific results, and for those of you have been able to enjoy the fruits of all of our efforts, I think you'll agree that team work pays off!

Randy Chapin, Resort Manager

Management Changes at Carlsbad Inn

We are excited to share some management changes here at the Carlsbad Inn. Holly Ansley has joined our team as Assistant General Manager.

Holly's hospitality career started in Las Vegas, as the Executive Housekeeper of the Sunset Station Hotel and Casino. She moved her way up to Director Hotel Operations at Sunset Station, and then moved to San Diego in 2001.

Holly may be new to Carlsbad Inn however she is no stranger to the Grand Pacific family. After moving to San Diego in 2001, Holly became General Manager at Carlsbad Seapointe Resort and was in that position for three years. She then moved to our sister resort and was General Manager of Coronado Beach Resort from 2004-2006. Just recently Holly was the General Manager of Glorietta Bay Inn and Boutique hotel on Coronado Island. Holly was born in Augusta, Georgia and lived in Las Vegas, Nevada for 18 years. She graduated from the University of Las Vegas with a Bachelors Degree in Hotel Administration in 1994.

Please welcome Holly to our Carlsbad Inn family, we are very happy to have her.
